

TECHNICAL OFFICER

Peracto is Australasia's leading and fastest growing agricultural research company. We specialise in applying insights and technology to improve practices and outcomes in agriculture. We are committed to excellence in research and we provide expert services to our clients that deliver accuracy and genuine value. Our focus is on people, efficient systems and client outcomes.

Peracto services local, national and global markets from 14 locations across Australasia. As part of the broader Staphyt network we now access a range of resources from an organisation with over 400 people across 12 European countries.

To achieve our Vision of "preferred industry provider" and enable us to serve the evolving agricultural market, we need the best, brightest and most committed people.

As a result of our continual growth, we are looking for a bright, enthusiastic individual to assist in agricultural field trials.

As well as having the required skills and experience, you will be able to demonstrate a strong work ethic, be capable of working within teams, be capable of working autonomously and taking responsibility for your actions.

Reporting to the Regional Manager, you will be hands on, a motivated self-starter with exceptional communication and would be supporting the Research team, assisting them wherever possible with day to day operations.

A copy of the position description is available at www.peracto.com.

If this opportunity sounds like it fits you and your career goals, we would love to hear from you. A full position description is available on the Peracto website www.peracto.com. To qualify for this position you must be an Australian or New Zealand citizen or be eligible for an appropriate work visa.
